LIBRARY ORIENTATION, BEAL, ENG101, FALL 2016

Library web page:  http://library.lyon.edu
Camille Beary, 870-307-7444
Camille.Beary@lyon.edu
Office:  #203, Main lobby

USER ID AND PASSWORD? WIFI PW?

When off-campus, Lyon College faculty, staff, and students please use your user ID of: first.last@lyon.edu and your password to login.

The wifi password is:  Honorcode2015

If you have problems accessing the databases please call Lyon support at:  870-307-7555 or contact support@lyon.edu.

RESEARCH STRATEGY- CREDO

Credo can show you key words, synonyms, terms, and descriptors for you to use in your research. Go to the home page: <http://libguides.lyon.edu/home> Click Credo.

- Mind Maps
- Image: image, map, audio, visual
- Topic

WORLDCAT DISCOVERY- CONTINUED

Discovery:  Borrow a book from another library using Discovery.  There is a .50 cent fee and Ms. Whittenton will email or call you when they come in so you can pick them up at the library. It takes 3 to 14 days, so plan ahead!

ARTICLES- PROQUEST AND JSTOR

- Proquest
  Go to the home page at <http://libguides.lyon.edu/home>
  Click the Article link in the middle of the page. Click the link: Proquest.
  - 16 databases, narrow down by unchecking boxes at top of page. Research Library may be all you need.
  - Notice thesauri suggestions

- JSTOR
  Click the Article link in the middle of the page. Click the link: JSTOR
  - Ex: Child Slavery India, 2011-2016, law journals
  - citation only- pay to download
  - Advanced search: Read and Download
  - Moving wall of 5 years
  - Search for full text link

Do not pay for articles in JSTOR!  We can order for you in interlibrary loan. If you need the article and can’t find full-text, contact: ill@lyon.edu for help. Be sure to copy and paste the citation so we can order it for you.

WORLDCAT DISCOVERY- BOOKS AND ARTICLES

1. Go to the home page: <http://libguides.lyon.edu/home>
   Search the collection by author, title, subject, word or phrase.

   - Sort by
   - Library
   - Content
   - Format
   - Database
SCHOLARLY VS. POPULAR

SCHOLARLY, PEER-REVIEWED, JURIED

- Generally, have a serious look.
- Often contain pictures, graphs, and charts.
- Written by “experts” in particular fields (subject disciplines).
- Report on original research or experimentation.
- Often reviewed (refereed) by author’s peers before publication.
- Intended audience is other scholars (researchers, professors, students) and “experts” familiar with the language of the discipline.
- Credit given to sources used (i.e., citations.)
- In-text citations.
- Bibliography or reference list.
- Footnotes or endnotes.
- Published by academic presses or endorsed by professional associations.

POPULAR

- Available in many formats.
- Often attractive in appearance.
- Often contain many photographs and other eye-catching graphics.
- Generally written by professional writers or journalists.
- Generally, not written by scholarly “experts” in any one field.
- Intended audience is the general public.
- Language used is simple and entertaining.
- Rarely credit their sources (i.e., no citations)

TRADE JOURNAL

- Article length varies.
- Citations or footnotes? Optional.
- Articles may provide author names or may be anonymous.
- Intended for specific industries or trades.
- Advertising may be aimed to a special audience.

- Published by commercial presses.
- Contain advertisements.
- Can be purchased at newsstands, grocery stores, and large bookstores.
JSTOR

Find an article published in 2015 about child labor in Taiwan using the subject area of LAW.

WorldCat Discovery

Find a paper book in our library only about cats, published in the last 5 years using the topic of Anthropology.

CREDO

Create a mind map about politics and open an article from the mind maps.

PROQUEST

Find and select the ideal database to access the subject bacteriology and immunizations.